

History lesson

Wednesday, June 25, 2008

The Dr. Samuel A. Mudd Society celebrated the 350th anniversary of Charles County Saturday and Sunday with an event at the Mudd house in Waldorf.

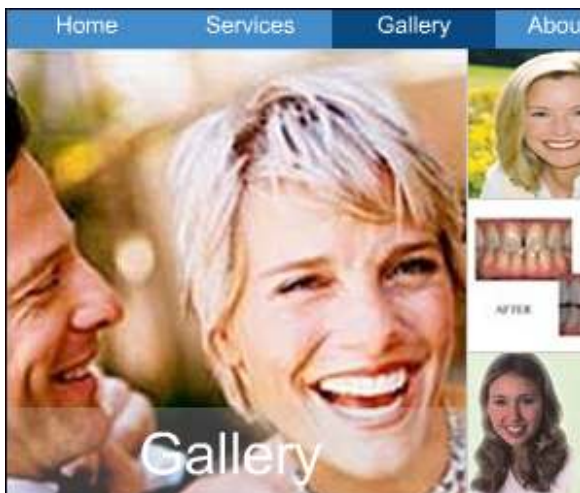

Civil War re-enactor Eddie Roberts talks tactics with Tom Chiarizia and Cameron and Stephen Good of Alexandria, Va. More than 200 people showed up on the grounds over the weekend, according to Danny Fluhart, president of the society. Seven tents — set up by Civil War re-enactors representing the Union Army and Confederate — were set up on the grounds, a moonbounce and face painting were available for the kids and the American Battlefield Ghost Hunters Society gave nighttime tours of the Mudd house.

Staff photos by GARY SMITH

Click here to enlarge this photo

 E-Mail This Article |  Print This Story

Click here to enlarge this photo

Members of the Southern Maryland Doll Club, including Lynn Buonviri set up a display of china head dolls during the event.